THE 1959

Sirmont

PUBLISHED BY THE ANNUAL STAFF

 OFMOUNT AIRY HIGH SCHOOL
Mount Airy, North Carolina

Ruby Hunter, editor; Sue Smith, business manager; and Vaughn Gwyn, photographer; make plans to cover all phases of school life in the '59 Airmont.

HORIZONS OF LEARNING expand as Ray Tate and Glenn Yokley hunt a faraway place and Eleanor Gillespie scans a reference book.

Activities Through The Yean

GLEE CLUB members (SEATED) Jenny Ruth Pruett, Nancy Thomas, (STANDING) Bill Baber, Wesley Caviness, and Gail Wright pause for a moment in the beautiful spring garden setting of the annual concert.

F.H.A. MEMBERS Edna Moseley and Polly Kirkman prepare for the mother and daughter banquet, a new feature of the home economics class.

stnd See Ilnfolding

ASSEMBLIES, DRAMATICS ENTERTAIN and develop us. Dan Pendleton models his sister's formal under violent protest. His mother, Gail Allen, tries to restrain Dan as his sister, Libby Tesh, teases.

DEVOTIONS, Y-CLUBS add a spiritual dimension to our experiences.

Owe Expanding Horizons

(ABOVE) OUR WORLD EXPANDS as we study different systems. (BELOW) AS A SYMBOL OF CITIZENSHIP AND PATRIOTISM Harold Warren and Johnny Badgett each morning raise the flag.

Foreword

Within the walls of home and school or on the local streets our world seems small. From a favorite parkway overlook the mile on mile of mountains, valleys, towns, and farms form a limitless expanse -- our broadening world. This year each experience and contact, each fact and new idea, each problem solved or lesson learned expands our horizon. Our activities are in this eighth edition of Airmont.

As the year's memory grows dim and almost erases from the mind our happy, carefree times, turn these pages and recapture your EXPANDING HORIZON.

With Yts Viwied SIctivities...

Suzanne Lewis and Glenn Yokley attend the Spanish club party as a matador and a Spanish senorita.

Athletics, Friendships...

THE LAST HOT WEEKS of August bring the football squad back to work. Coach Atkins diagrams a new play at skull practice.

GLENN YOKLEY follows the Twirpseason rule "ladies pay" and buys Cleve Hamlin's ticket to the Southeastern Assembly from Mr: Ramey.

From Alll lle Experience

KEATS' "REALMS OF GOLD" have a new traveler as Elaine Clement loses herself in a new book.

A NEW SCHOOL DAY begins as Mike Marion, Genevieve Norman, Betty Collins, and Brenda Marshall prepare to enter the doors of learning.

MRS. HAMILTON, Mrs. McKinney, and Mr. Limer carry their homework as they leave school.

SUPERINTENDENT B. H. Tharrington discusses the school population map with Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. George Wright, who helped in its making. The map is being used in planning a school building program.

Oum SAdministration Workss

SCHOOL FINANCES ARE studied by Mr. Robert Smith, school board chairman; and Mr. B. H. Tharrington, school superintendent.

PRINCIPAL H. M. FINCH runs the high school in a manner conducive to good work, good behavior, and good fellowship.

INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAM, teacher recruitment, physical facilities, finances, public relations -- all claim attention from the administration. Additions to elementary school buildings and construction of a junior high are current projects.

MR. HENRY ROWE, new school board member, replaces Mr. W. I. Monday, who retired after thirty years'service on the board. City commissioners reappointed Mr. Roy Nelson, school board member since 1942. Appointments were made for three-year terms.

For Expanding Opportunities

SCHOOL BOARD: (STANDING) Mr. John Wolfe, Mr. S. A. Hennis, Jr., Mr. R. M. Nelson, Mr. Henry Rowe, Mr. Bowman George (SEATED) Mr. R. M. Smith, Supt. B. H. Tharrington, Mr. Marion Burke.

OFFICE ROUTINE RUNS smoothly with Mrs. Lillian Johnson and Mrs. Ann Holyfield, secretaries to the superintendent and the principal respectívely, taking care of details.

LUNCH IS SERVED to over eight hundred hungry students by the cafeteria staff: Mrs. Moxley, Mrs. Beamer, Mrs. Jackson, and Mrs. Speight. Mrs. Clemit Edwards (CIRCLE) joined the staff this year.

We are unusually fortunate in our excellent faculty - student relationship. A small faculty turnover, a consistant attitude of helpfulness and friendliness, and the maintenance of a high standard for conduct and work--all these build mutual respect, liking and a good atmosphere for expanding horizons.

All MAHS teachers hold degrees and A certificates. Six have advanced degrees; nine are currently working on MA's; one is nearing the end of his work on a Ph. D.

Principal H. M. Finch

Tur Tanchers Worr Loreg Tours

"WE HOPE YOU like us!" Principal H. M. Finch welcomes two new teachers to M.A.H.S. Mrs. Geraldine Cloninger replaces Mrs. Shuford in the home economics department and Miss Willie Lou McGee is added to the math department for the only faculty changes.

COFFEE, COOKIES, A SOCIAL gettogether, and new books mix well as teachers come by the library after school to preview new materials. Mr. Ramey, Mr. Atkins, and Mrs. Barringer look over additions in the social sciences.

First row: Mrs. Barringer, Mr. Bartley, Mrs. Cloninger, Mrs. Draughn, Mr. Finch, Mrs. Hamilton, Miss Haymore, Miss Holder. Second row: Mr. Johnson, Mr. Limer, Miss McGee, Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. Mackie, Coach Moir, Mrs. Neal, Mr. Ramey. Third row: Mr. Reed, Coach Shelton, Miss Simpson, Mrs. Sydnor, Miss A. Thomas, Mrs. V. Thomas, Mr. Williams, Mr. Woodie.

To Proaden Our Hovizons

MR. CHARLES ATKINS: Civics, General Math, Health, Coaching, Monogram Club. MRS. KATE BARRINGER: Civics, History, Student Council. MR. J. D. BARTLEY: Commercial, Cheerleaders, J-V basketball. MRS. GERALDINE CLONINGEF: Home economics, F.H.A.

MRS. MARGARET DRAUGHN: Commercial. MRS. MAXINE HAMILTON: Biology, Honor Society. MISS ADA HAYMORE: Latin, Latin Club. MISS EVA HOLDER: English, Journalism, High Spots adviser.

MR. CHARLES JOHNSON: Chorus, band, Hi-Y. MR. EDMOND W. LIMER, Jr.: Commercial, Jr. high football assistant. MISS WILLIE LOU McGEE: Mathematics. MRS. LORRAINE McKINNEY: Chemistry, Biology, General science.

MRS. LAVINIA MACKIE: Spanish, History, Spanish Club, Senior sponsor. MR. SAM MOIR: Civics, Health, Coaching, Monogram Club. MRS. MARY NEAL: English, Junior sponsor. MR. ARNOLD RAMEY: English, History, Geography, Dramatics.

MRS. SYDNOR, Mrs. McKinney, and Mrs. Hamilton happily read notice of their summer study grant from the National Science Foundation. MAHS was the only N. C. school with three scholarship representatives at the U. N. C. Summer Institute.

MISS THOMAS, MRS. Neal, and Miss Holder evaluate a literary map of America.

FOR OUTSTANDING WORK in MAHS for the past 30 years, Miss Ada Haymore won the 1958 local and district "Oscars For Teachers" award.

THE COMMERCIAL TEACHERS, MRS. Drawghn, Mr. Bartley, and Mr. Limer industriously mimeograph tests to be given in commercial classes.

MRS. MACKIE LISTENS attentively to a Spanis translation.

MR. WOODIE AND Mrs. Thomas examine new library books on mathematics.

Varied Personalities,

SUCCESSFUL STRATEGY to defeat the East is worked out by star cager Tommy Koontz of North Davidson and Coach Sam Moir. Mr. Moir coached the West to victory in the annual EastWest All Star game August 5 in Greensboro.

Hours in the classroom, correcting papers, making preparation, and working with extra curricular activities leave teachers little free time during school months. Like other people, however, they like time for home affairs, for recreation and friendships, and for easing the tensions of work.

Interests Contribute To. The Teaching Progrann

(BELOW) ' 'WE DO A LOT OF board work. Mr. Reed and Coach Shelton discuss the progress of their respective English classes.

"Yea, it does look like you!" comments SamInman to Pinky Hennis as he refuses to surrender her colorscope.

Sturlents

The bell rings in the morning and a multitude of students scramble for their homeroom to start a new day. Out of momentary confusion grows organization. Study replaces leisure and another year unfolds.

Homework, tests, class discussions, extra curricular activities, athletics, parties-- all are shared with over 620 classmates. All the familiar faces and different types blend into a pattern never to be forgotten-- the MAHS years.

THERE'S NO DOUBT music has charms for Mr. Johnson, Mr. Lawrence Skinner, Thorne Clark, and Sybil Moore as Elizabeth Calhoun follows the Flora MacDonald Glee Club concert with some piano numbers.

Mr. Skinner directed the visiting glee club; Miss Moore and Miss Calhoun were members. This was the second clubto visit Mount Airy last spring -the UNC Male Chorus being the first. School Life

Dances, elections, commencement, banquets, plays, concerts -- all these offer a sprinkle of spice in what otherwise would be monotonous routine. Students look forward to these events with great anticipation, for the scraping of chalk, excitement of a game, and soft laughter blend together in our school -- our expanding horizon.

New Traces, Missing Friends, Routine-

SUZANNE LEWIS, High Spots reporter, interviews transfer students Gene (Cotton) Smith, Tillman Moreley, and Barbara Russell. Gene and Tillman are both ex-servicemen; Barbara has spent two years in school in Karlsruke, Germany.

DINK CALDWE LL interviews Mrs. Shuford and her son Walter about their plans. The Shufords are spending this year on Saipan where Mrs. Shuford is teaching.

'IT LOOKS LIKE a busy year," muses senior Barry Patterson as he fills his locker with newly issued books at the beginning of the school year.

The new school term begins without the ' 58 seniors and some other students, and one familiar faculty member but with two new teachers, a larger freshmen class, and fortysix transfers from schools of five states and Germany.

COLLEGE DAY gives Jo Lena Cox the chance to have a college representative answer her questions about higher education.

A Scar School Yean Beyins

Homeroom, classes, clubs, assemblies, lunch lines, and special events to spice the routine--our school year soon begins to pass rapidly.

OUR LUNCHROOM offers something for every taste. Barbara Key fortifies herself for afternoon classes.

BILL BURKE helps Sue Smith organize the many color scopes by students' homerooms.

BRENDA MARSHALL looks over some of the reference material available to students.

Talent Show Offers Tiun Stud Food

Music, dances, specialties -- students and townspeople look forward to the annual "Y" Clubs' talent show.

Food collected as admission charge gives many needy families a happier Thanksgiving.
"AND NOW . . . . . . ." BILL BABER emcees the annual Hi-Y --Tri-Hi-Y talent show.

HUGH PEOPLES ADDS a little change to the talent show by his rendition of "Minuet" on the violin.

FOR SECOND CONSECUTIVE year Phillip Stanley wins first place in the talent show.
(RIGHT) ' THISIS A WONDERFUL collection!" Tri-Hi-Y members Suzanne Lewis, Glenda Davenport, and Elizabeth Sykes sort and shelve the food collected from the annual talent show. The food was boxed and distributed to needy families for Thanksgiving.

Homecoming Ends Football Season

(TOP) THE PLAYERS MAKE their final plunge to end the second quarter of playing as the band prepares for the half-time show.

Homecoming night celebrates the last football game of the year and gives to one out of five girls, chosen by the football team, the honor of reigning as homecoming queen. The half-time display brings the marching band, cold excitement, and pretty girls sponsoring the senior football players.

AFTER BEING CROWNED homecoming queen at half-time ceremonies, Sara Midkiff proudly receives kisses from co-captains Frank Lowry and Tommy Vaughn.

Twing Tun, Winter Work

CHARLES GREENWOOD and Phyllis Arrington face the judge as Raeford Gammons, their witness, declares he saw it all.

Hi-Y-sponsored Twirp season reversed the roles of boys and girls in asking and paying for dates.
(CIRCLE) POLLY KIRKMAN and Ruby Hunter count the votes for the King and Queen of Hearts who reign over Twirp season's Sweetheart dance.
(BOTTOM, LEFT) TWIRP COURT offenders, Johnnie Mae Ferguson, Clara Edinger, and Suzanne Lewis pay for their crimes by appearing at school in odd costumes or with unusual book transportation.

Mrinng Variety Stud Snterest

"THESE WILL GOina hurry!" Pinky Hennis and Marty Carroll arrange new books for display to faculty before they are put in circulation.
(CIRCLE) THE STACK OF BOOKS to be shelved convinces library assistant phyllis Arrington that students do read.

Christmas excitement, our first science fair, a shipment of new books, a school-closing snow, exams, Twirp season, basketball -- all these fill our winter with varied activities.

MRS. McKINNEY admires an atomic model made by Jo Lena Cox for the first Science Fair to be held at Mount Airy High School.

WINTER BROUGHT the heaviest snow in years with extraordinary beauty, icy roads, damaged school plants, and a week of holidays from school.
"YOU WERE A LWAYS a good friend to me," says Scrooge (Martha Carroll) to Marley's ghost (Dink Caldwell) at the dress-rehearsal for the annual Tri-Hi-Y -- Hi-Y Christmas play, Dickens' Christmas Carol.

Seniors Score Hit With

Hours of work on scenery, costume, advertising, stage props; afternoons and nights of practice -- all precede the few hours before footlights, a treasured memory.

"LET'S TRYIT this way." Producing the senior play is no easy job for directors or cast members. At rehearsal Mr. Arnold Ramey, casting director; Ray Sutphin; Shannon Smith; Bobby Smith; and Mr. Ray Reed, director, work out a problem.

Touthful Mligh-Spirited Drouna

Father of the Bride will be remembered as one of the finest of the traditionally excellent MAHS senior plays--well cast, directed, and acted.

The play realistically depicted the troubles of the bride's father. Bobby Smith and Betty Simmons delighted the audience with their interpretation of the father and mother. Shannan Smith gave a touching, realistic performance as the bride torn between conflicting desires of fiance, relatives, and friends. The pesky younger brother (Mickey Watson), the understanding older one (Todd Taylor), the maid with ready tears (Cynthia Tillotson), the sophisticated caterer (Dink Caldwell) were among the other characters.
''WELL IT'S MY WEDDING !" Mr. Banks (Bobby Smith) and his daughter Kay (Shannon Smith) have a heated arguement over the number of guests for her wedding. Mrs. Banks (Betty Simmons) desperately tries to keep peace in the house.

(BE LOW) THE STAGE CREW plays an important part in the senior play. Faye Sutphin, Treva Sumner, and Sam Inman paint scenery for a very effective set.

Students Enjoy EBnd OP Year

THE '58 MARSHALS MAKING PREPARATIONS for commencement as they receive ribbons are (SEATED) Pat Carpenter, Sara Midkiff, Clara Edinger (STANDING) Scherer James, Dianne Simmons, Margaret McCann, Sue Smith, James Harvey, Faye Mills, and Judith Shelton. The ten juniors with the highest scholastic average serve as marshals.

With the glorious feel and sights of spring come the added excitements of the last weeks of school. Airmonts come and are thoroughly autographed. Seniors count the days to graduation; juniors prepare to become seniors. Officers are chosen for next year.

Along with increased activities and preparation for the impending final exams come dreams of the wonderful summer ahead.

(BOTTOM LEFT) "LET'S GO!"JEN PRUETT GIVES her money to Miss Verona West, supervisor, as Jimmy Baity, Peggy Vogler, Linda Worrell, and Stewart Smith wait to start to Social Standards Day at Beulah High School. MAHS honor seniors attend the annual conference, meet other students, and hear inspiring lectures.
(BELOW) MURMURS OF AH-H and um-m come from proud staff members Margaret McCann, Louise Morris, Brenda Burke, Pinky Hennis, Ruby Hunter and Jane Merritt as they preview the ' 58 yearbooks for the first time at Miss Simpson's house.

Rush SInd EPledion EBxcilomant

Spring activities are enlivened by election of student leaders. Student Council officers are chosen first. From juniors with scholastic average of 85 and citizenship average of 90 students choose five candidates for president. Each nominee selects his running mate and campaign manager. An intensive campaign is climaxed by assembly speeches and the actual voting.

From three candidates chosen one each by the juniors, the outgoing staff, and Miss Holder, rising seniors elect High Spots editors. Classes and clubs then elect their officers for the coming year. Airmont leaders are chosen by the outgoing staff and adviser.

STUDENT COUNCIL candidates Mildred Shelton, Dianne Simmons, Sara Midkiff, Edmund Burke, Vaughn Gwyn, and Sherer James listen as outgoing President Stewart Smith gives advice on their campaigns.
"ONE SUPPORTER!" says campaign manager Todd Taylor to his candidates for '58-59 Student Council, Vaughn Gwyn and Scherer James, as they load Crystal Belton with buttons and ballons.

GAIL WRIGHT (CENTER) rejoices with Scherer James and Dianne Simmons over their election as associate editor and editor, respectively, of High Spots.

(BELOW, CENTER) 'I PROMISE TO THE BEST OF MY ability," replies Sara Midkiff, 1958-59 Student Council Vice-President, as she takes the oath of office from Peggy Vogler, out-going Vice-President.
(BELOW) 1958-59 STUDENT COUNCIL president Edmund Burke takes the oath of office from Stewart Smith, out-going President.

Prom

THE STRAINS OF 'Ebb Tide" . . . .dreamy dances . . . . the junior-senior prom furnishes romance and excitement.

INVITATIONS COMMITTEE for the juniorsenior crowd around Mrs. Neal to examine the finished dance programs. The committee consists of Sandra Holder; Scherer James; Edmund Burke, chairman; Suzanne Lewis; and Dianne Simmons.

The loveliest night in the year . . . . spring breezes; soft, starry sky; a mellow moon gleaming above ..... the prettiest girls anywhere dressed in their most beautiful gowns . . . . the handsomest boys for escorks to the dance of dances -- the juniorsenior prom. A gala evening of dancing to the smooth music of a talented combo until the dance is over. It is an evening to be remembered long after the music has faded away.... a high point in the year at MAHS.

Ennchuntment To furniors, Ceniors's

CLASS OFFICERS and committee members form the figure of a fish as they are recognized at the junior-senior prom. A mermaid and other exotic creatures of the deep add to the atmosphere of our "Sea Fantasy."
"YOU CAN'T HAVE a junior-senior without food!" Chairman of Refreshment Committee, Fay Mills, and her helpers, Mildred Shelton and Sara Midkiff, arrange punch bowl and plates.

Spring Activities Include Concert,

MODELS PATSEY SIMMONS and her younger sister, displaying their mother and daughter dresses at the F. H. A. fashion show, walk to the judges table for Yvonne Vaughn and Cynthia Tillotson to get a closer look.

Prenquets, And Pashion Show

awarded at the banquet went to Stewart Smith, Most Valuable; Freddie Goins, Most Improved; Gilmer Blackburn, Best Sport; Charles Triplette, Best Defender; and Reginald Davis, Best Blocker.
'IN FOOTBALL success is determined by effort and desire," said MAHS's own Billy Cox, speaker for the annual football banquet. Mr. Cox, who played professional ball following his stardom at Duke, encouraged ball players to keep their school grades up.

The rush of spring activities, the tension of exams, the familiar routine of school--all merge in a final burst of glory.

Commencement--longed for and a little regretted--comes and goes. Seniors say good-bye to MAHS; others become seniors. Each broadens his horizons according to his ability and his effort.

CAP AND GOWN symbolize the attainment of one dream, the beginning of a quest for another.

Beginning Of Ever-Broader Worlds

A HANDSHAKE, A DIPLOMA, and high school days are over. Ruth Chilton receives her diploma from Mr. Robert Smith, school board chairman.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAMS bring out a full house and test a marshal's skill and endurance. Marshal Judy Shelton performs one of her duties--ushering.

Recognition, Honor Encourage,

LINDA WORRELL happily smiles as Miss Annie Thomas, guidance director, pins her as the school's winner of the Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow contest.

ELAINE CLEMENT looks proudly at her project, "Evolution of Man," which won her first place in MAHS's Science Fair last spring. Elaine's project was also displayed in the District Science Fair at Wake Forest College.

1958 Senior Scholarship

BILL ASHLEY and Ruth Anderson listen attentively as Miss Holder gives instructions for standard tests. Maturity tests were given to all sophomores, achievement tests to all juniors and seniors as a part of the school's self evaluation.

Classroom Work

Clicking typewriters . . . banging hammers ... whirring machines and clattering pans . . . staccato chalk sounds . . . enthusiastic voices . . . scratching pencils and pens . .. turning pages . . . hissing science experiments . . . quiet reading . . . students work at expanding their horizons in vocational, general, or college preparatory courses.

Driver training and Latin III are new additions to our curriculum.

English Department Works One

DRILL IN GRAMMAR IS a basic part of work in English. Deidra Shelton, English I student, checks the class's progress on a language chart.

ELIZABETH SYKES, '60; Camille Combs, '61; and Scherer James, '59 happily read High Spots announcement that they are Lions Club Essay winners for their respective classes. The essay contest is put on through English classes each year.

"LOOK! THIS ONE SHOULD be good!" Clara Edinger and Margaret McCann choose books from the senior shelf for reports. First semester English IV reports are made on great European novels. Familiarity soon convinces most students of their worth and reading interest.

Literature, grammar drill, composition, punctuation rules, spelling, and book reports -- all these are covered by our English department. Nineteen English classes and one journalism class is a heavyloadfor our five teachers, Miss Holder, Mrs. Neal, Mr. Shelton, Mr. Reed, and Miss Annie Thomas.

SPELLING HAS A definite place in Miss Holder's English III and IV. With rules on bulletin board beside her, grader Mary Oren King checks papers by her corrected copy.
"IS THIS A DAGGER which I see before me,
The handle toward my hand? Come, let me clutch thee."

Don Starling dramatizes Macbeth's immortal words, reaching for the red-stained dagger constructed and suspended from a light fixture in 106 by Shakespeare - conscious boys in 1955. English IV students continue to memorize and recite passages from Macbeth.

Enlarged Social Science Department Clarifies

MAPS MAKE HISTORY CLEARER. U. S. history students Mike Allred and Carolyn Miller trace a Revolutionary War campaign.

GEOGRAPHY STUDENTSGRADY Pike and Mike Cooke place map on bulletin board for a class study.

MISSELIZABETH POWELL and Mrs. Wilson Barber spent a great deal of time with us, substituting for Mr. Ramey while he convalesced from a heart attack.

Spirited discussions of current problems; background for present institutions and events; understanding of social, economics, and political trends; experience in thinking and in finding material -- these, found in the social sciences, equip us to continue expanding and enriching our lives.
'HERE IS A PICTURE of the submarine." David Pierce, a civics student, gives a current event from Newsweek. These reports are given each week.

Our WorldOP Yesterduy Strd Today

SO MUCH REFERENCE is necessary for world history that an extra set of Britannica Encyclopedias has been moved from the library to room 103. Judy Shelton and Pat Carpenterfind additional material on the Feudal Age.

PICTURES ADD UNDERSTANDING for History II students Judy Goad and Tollie Barber as they look over Mrs. Mackie's picture file.

Seven classes of civics, four of U. S. history, two of world history, one of geography are offered by five teachers. The world problem course had to be dropped to accommodate more freshmen civics students. An experimental T. V. course marks an added change in the department.

TELEVISION COMES TO MAHS! This year one of Mr. Ramey's American history classes joined the U. N. C. T-V class on an experimental basis. Tests given this group and the regular history classes will permit an evaluation of $T-V$ as a teaching medium.

Science Strd Math Departments

BILL BRADFORD CHECKS the school projector before showing a film for class.

GEOMETRY STUDENTS, Howard Summer, Judy Merritt, Elaine Clement, Nancy Cox, and Jeffery Shelton look at some of the triangles and other geometric forms used in the math department.

Mr. Atkins, Mrs. Sydnor, Miss McGee, Mr. Bartley; and Mr. Limer keep our math department up-to-date with seventeen classes of general math, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. This year Mrs. Sydnor has taken over Mr. Finch's course -- trigonometry, and an additional teacher has been acquired for the department.

Exppand TO Nect Student Needs

JUDGES, Mr. Hugh Talley and Mrs. Maynard Beamer look intently at George Williams' science fair display, "Flow of Electrons In a Vacuum," while George explains the principle involved.

BEAKERS, TEST TUBES, varied experiments -- all make the chemistry lab a fascinating place. Tommy Vaughn collects oxygen as Sue Smith records the results of the experiment in her lab manual.

Somo EConomics Stud Shap Students

Sewing, cooking, home planning and management, personal pro-blems--all make home economics a varied and practical course for the ninety-one girls enrolled in five classes.

Painstaking work cutting and sewing pays off when the clothes are modeled with pride at a fashion show. The endless details of cooking result in a flawless dinner or tea. Students can see and be proud of their progress.

REVA MIDKIFF LEARNS that sewing takes careful work.

AS SANDRA POORE and Mary Helen Pruitt watch, Charlotte Fleming puts the finishing touches on Jacqueline Taylor's dress before she goes into the fashion show spotlight.

See Results Op Tradical Training

LAYMON WILLIS, Mitchell Brannock, and Joe Thomas, shop students, build stools. This is only one of the many phases of building the shop class covers.

Two classes in shop, one in mechanical drawing, and one in carpentry are filled to capacity each year.

The carpentry class meets for three hours and carries two units credit. Members of the class also function as the VIC club. Last year's club won first place for its exhibit at the annual State Convention of the N . C. Vocational Industrial Club held in Durham.

VIC OFFICERS WAYNE JACKSON, secre-tary-treasurer; David Simmons, vicepresident; Don Anderson, president; and Mr . Williams, adviser, go over the house plan to be used by the carpentry class.

THE FIVE ROOM HOUSE in Rock Bluff built by the 15 boys in Mr. George Williams' carpentry class will find eager buyers. For five years the carpentry class has built a house for its major project. Proceeds from the sale of the house will buy shop equipment.

Seven Foreign Lantuage Blasses Pive Dackground

SPANISH CUSTOMS ARE STUDIED along with the language. Guido Sutter, Linda Norman, Sue Smith, and Edmund Burke demonstrate a Spanish dance.

Commencial Department Qives Vavied Courses

 for the class.

Our commercial faculty, Mr. Limer, Mrs. Draughn, and Mr. Bartley, offer thirteen classes in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, general business, and basic business. Local businesses contact the department about office jobs and emoloy many commercial graduates.
'IT DOESN'T LOOK like much now, but just wait," laughs Betsy Watts as she and Linda Payne, commercial students, make up a bulletin board showing work done in their department.

EXERCISE ON THE field is one phase of the health and physical education class required of all freshmen.

MR. MOIR BRIEFS practice teacher, Mr. Sammy George from ASTC, on charts for use in health classes.

Health, Driver Education, Guidance

MISS ANNIE THOMAS (CENTER) looks over college material with Patti Young and Jerry Gates.

GUIDANCE SECRETARIES Linda Norman and Aloma Brindle prepare a report for Miss Thomas.

MARY, CAROLYN, AND MARTHA Vaughn sing for assemblies, church, and civic organizations.

Music, Librury Ennich School Program

One class of chorus and one of band, offering one-half unit credit each, meet daily and give music training to approximately 130 students. Concert and guest appearances, radio and $T-V$ programs offer entertainment to audiences, added experience to glee club and band members.

ANOTHER YEAR brings a renewed interest in learning and an increased use of the library. Busy library assistants Geraldine Monday and Phyllis Arrington renew and check in books during a rush period.

NEW BOOKS IN the library are examined by Miss Thomas, Coach Shelton, Mr. Ramey, Mrs. Neal, and Miss Haymore.

For assignments and for recreation, a constant flow of students keeps the library busy before tardy bell, during school hours, and after school.

Fifty periodicals, 5,173 books, pamphlets, records, movies, and film strips are made available by our librarian and twelve student assistants.

HOMECOMING QUEEN Sara Midkiff is surrounded by the members of her court: Annetta Taylor, Scherer James, Judy Merritt, and Phyllis Arrington.

Spice to the more serious side of school life is furnished by the extra-curricular activities. Publication, service, foreign language groups--the clubs at M. A. H.S. cover a wide area of enjoyments, allowing every person a chance to participate and express himself. Our clubs, service groups, and organizations help develop talents, leadership, and co-operation--all useful in well-rounded growth.

Council Wirfis To Develop Student

Care of the building, lunchroom duties, elections and hall monitor supervision, sponsoring sock hops and buses to out of town football games--all these student council activities build student responsibility and good student-teacher relationship.

President and vice-president are elected by the student body; representatives are chosen from each homeroom. The council meets once a week to discuss problems that arise and to make decisions regarding them. Representatives report back to homerooms.

DRAWING UP a National Honor Society constitution for the school is no easy or fast job. Margaret Hiatt; Peggy Vogler; Mrs. Hamilton, adviser; Stewart Smith; James Baity; Bobby Dean; Verona Sechrest; and Sue Smith--the committee responsible--use help from some model constitutions.

"You will like this book."
Student assistants card, shelve, check out books, sign permits, type, file, prepare new books, work on bulletin boards, keep the library straight, and help locate materials -- all necessary to make the library useful.

Six of the assistants are working in the library for the first time; six have had previous experience; eleven work one period each day; one devotes two periods to the library.

ASSISTANT HELEN BUSICK waters one of the plants that brighten the library's atmosphere.

Office Sarges Find Carried Jobs

The office pages--one of the most essential groups in the mechanism of the school--perform many and varied duties. They take and make phone calls, run endless errands, check absentees, sort mail, mimeograph forms--do anything that needs doing for the efficient operation of the school.

CHARLES EASTER makes phone calls for Mr. Finch during second period. All absentees are checked by phone; many incoming calls are handled by pages.

MONDALE PAYNE AND J.T. Tolbert, office pages, mimeograph absentee lists for the day. Each absentee has been called and the reason for his absence noted on the sheet.

NELLIE KENNIDY AND CHARLES HENNIS, 5th period office pages, file mail and notices in the teachers' boxes.

Snteresting

OFFICE PAGES Linda Love and John York get the announcements ready before talking over the intercommunication system.

Gournlisme Class Works For

Classwork, night and afternoon sessions with the adviser, summer solicitation for ads, homeroom campaign for subscriptions, interviews and research for facts, carefurl writing, polishing and typing, hours of proofing at the printer's--all these make High Spots a thorough, readable, professional like newspaper.

The journalism class is made up of select seniors. Editor and associate editor are elected by rising seniors in the spring. Other staff positions are filled from the journalism class by the editors.

Thorough Coverage, Trofessional Ulviting

STORIES IN AND CORRECTED, the journalism class works informally to ready material for the printer. James Harvey and Edmund Burke work on make-up while Scherer James and Miss Holder ponder a headline problem.

"SANDRA, YOU TAKE the office beat." Editor DianneSimmons makes assignments to the High Spots staff.

SCHERER JAMES and Dianne Simmons congratulate one another after being elected associate editor and editor - in-chief respectively of High Spots for 1959-60.

AT A NIGHT SESSION with Miss Holder, sports editors Edmund Burke and James Harvey work out details of headlines and make-up for their page. Filling copy exactly is a major problem in a four page paper.

Slimone STufP Noores Yhurd SYe Yew.

EDITOR RUBY HUNTER and staff member Pinky Hennis finish drawing pages before they are sent to the publisher.

APPOINTED HEADS of the Airmont staff begin early to make plans for the 1959 yearbook. Margaret McCann, copy editor; Vaughn Gwyn, photographer; Sue Smith, business manager; search for ideas.

AT A SUMMER STAFF meeting held at the home of Ruby Hunter, editor, students begin work on advertisements for Airmont. Barbara Cheek, Ann Franklin, Missy Clark, and Gail Allen listen attentively to instructions.

For Complete Coverage

Readers may think an annual just grows. Staff members know that a consistantly toprated yearbook is the result of sustained hard work and attention to endless details. Raising funds, planning, taking and editing pictures, preparing layouts, writing, typing, copy- reading, careful checking, and meticulous records--all these, necessary to Airmont's complete coverage and top-rating, are known only to the busy staff members.

Spring coverage, summer work on ads, and intensified work in fall make Airmont publication a year round job. Staff members work without credit during study periods and after school.

COPY EDITOR MARGARET McCANN, after having made sure no misspelled words or misplaced copy escaped her watchful eyes and went to the prínter uncorrected, makes final corrections on Airmont proofs.

'THAT'S YOU," exclaims Sue Smith to Peggy Vogler as Annie Lee Marsh and Bill Burke are absorbed in their first view of the ' 58 Airmont.

Staff members receive yearbooks early at a party at Miss Simpson's where they look and autograph happily.

FYPS. Promotes Better Living

Fortyenthusiastic girls, lively meetings, trips, entertaining projects for better living--these are the F. H. A. Among the clubs most successful projects are the MotherDaughter banquet, the fashion show, and help for hospitalized children. Money for the projects is raised from chores done by the members on "hobo day."
(TOP) JOAN FLEMING aims the F. H. A. fashion show camera on Nancy Bondurant, Phyllis Arrington, Mary Louise Blue, Novie Welch, and Kay Huffman.

Foreign Lannguige Clubs Entertain Stud

The second year Spanish class meets as a club one Friday each month for programs composed of Spanish songs, games and customs. High light of the club's activities is the annual Fiesta.

DISCUSSING THE DIFFERENCE in schools of Denmark, Spain, and the United States, Nills Jacobson of Denmark, Mary Moore Pulliam of Mount Airy High School, and Delores Melindez-Martinez of Spain entertain and interest MAHS students. This program was presented by the foreign language students and their advisers.

(LE FT) SHANNON SMITH fastens Todd Taylor's Spanish Club pin. Second year Spanish students proudly displayed the sterling silver pins trimmed in black and green colors with the "El Circulo Espanol" inscription.

SCHERER JAMES, accompanied by Gail Wright, entertains the Spanish club with a "south of the border" song.

Instruct Els They EXpand Our Slovizens

Second and third year Latin students make up the Latin Club. Programs falure Roman customs. The year is climaxed by Latin Week, featuring Roman dress at school, Latin labels on doors, Roman slave auction and banquet.

The club is organized in the form of a Roman government with consuls, questors, censors, and aediles.
"HOW MUCH AM I bid, Romans?" Auctioneer Charles Branch sells first-year Latin student Ben Robertson at the slave auction held during Latin Week. Real money, one cent representing the Roman sesterce was used in bidding. Profit from the sale helped finance the Roman banquet.

Superior -Rated Glee Bleb Gives

The glee club, made up of 65 students from 10th, 11th, and 12th grades, meets daily in one class. Additional night practices each week pay off in superior performances and ratings.

Freshmen are unable to be in the glee club this year because they must take five subjects.

The glee club appears both at school and before special church, civic, and radio groups. The annual spring concert of the glee club and band is a high light of our high school world.

Classical music or popular, Christmas Carols or spirit-ual--they all give us a lift when done in the superb style of the MAHS Glee Club.

Brenda Hair, accompanist.

MR. CHARLES JOHNSON directs the glee club in one of the sacred numbers presented at the annual concert. Bonne Sparger accompanies.

Il A H S P Peasure And Pride

GLEE CLUB MEMBERS Scherer James, Thorne Clark, Carolyn Vaughn, and Bill Baber board the bus for the District Music Contest at High Point. The chorus, composed of juniors and seniors, received the only superior rating given a mixed chorus and an invitation to the state contest.

GLEE CLUB TRIO, Carolyn Vaughn, Sara Midkiff, and Dianne Simmons generously give of their talent for both school and civic functions.

Band Öntentains Uls, Stets

The band adds color to our football games and serves as an excellent good will ambassador for MAHS in its numerous out-of-town appearances. This year the band is composed of sixty-two members who practice one period each day for a one-half unit credit. The band performs at many outside functions such as parades, concerts, and football games. Members especially enjoyed playing for the Duke-Baylor game and touring New. York and Washington.

Majorettes Camille Combs, chief, and Patsy Vogler prepare to add their talents to the band's attraction.

BAND PERFORMANCE lends color and interest to half-time at football games and to parades. Flag bearers Elaine Clement, Gail Allen, and Pinky Hennis lead the band on the field.

Dhs Good Thepresentutive Of School

BAND TRIO, composed of James Lowry, Howard Sumner, and Jason Snow delights the talent show audience with "Honky Conk."

MR. CHARLES JOHNSON directs the band in many hours of practice before a number is ready for public performance. During football season many after-school practices on the field are held.

Enthusiastic junior high and midget football teams of approximately 35 boys were directed by Coach Shelton and Coach Limer. The midgets ended the season with a $2-2$ record. The wins were over Wilkes Central: 21-0 and 28-0. Both losses were inflicted by Booneville: 39-0 and 6-0.
The junior high boys won 3 , lost 2, tied 1 ; winning from Franklin (28-0), Wilkes Central (18-0), and Boonville (28-7), tying Booneville (13-13) and losing to Reidsville $(0-27)$ and Hanes (0-33).

LINED UP FOR Little Bears: (FRONT) Mike Poore, Gerald Evans, Dean Hunter, Bobby Childress, Bobby Boyd. (BACK) Bobby Hawks, Jerry Leftwich, and David Rowe.
"Go, team, go," yell the cheerleaders and the active sports of football, basketball, and baseball burst forth into contests of skill, teamwork, physical fitness, and sportsmanship. Each sports event brings out a large group of MAHS rooters as well as a hard-fighting, enthusiastic team.
Intramural basketball games and a junior high athletic program increase student participation and add experience.

The Granite Bears, with a record of 4 wins, 2 losses, and 1 tie in conference play and a $5-4-1$ overall record, ended the 1958 season tied with Gray for third place in the conference.

Joby Smith, a fast ball carrier; and Frank Lowry, a skillful quarterback; have been aided by three returning lettermen, Ronald Dollyhigh, Johnny Wilson, and Johnny Sanders, rated one of the best backs in the conference.

The linemen, averaging 180 pounds, and led by Charles Triplette, Tom Vaughn, Richard Kelly, Freddy Goins, and Vaughn Gwyn have functioned well. Nine lettermen will be lost to the varsity by graduation.

PREPARING FOR a tough game, Freddy Goins, Johnny Sanders, Bobby Dean, and Ronald Dollyhigh pack their equipment.

Prruinettes Begin Season With Slope

AS SANDRA In man shoots the ball against Meadows of Dan, Libby Tesh runs in for a rebound. The Bruinettes won 46 to 30 . (LEFT) GAIL ALLEN and Judy Merritt.

THE REEVES "Y" furnishes an excellent home court.

TROPHY NUMBER two is held proudly by Betty Heat, captain of the 1957-58 championship Bruinettes, while Coach Shelton and Cocaptain Cynthia Tillotson admiringly look on. Last year was the second consecutive year for the MAHS basketball girls to win the district AA championship.

The Bruinettes lost only one game (by one point) the last two seasons. This 1957-58 squad was undefeated.

In the first three games played, Sandra Incan was high scorer with 103 points, followed by Sara Midkiff with thirty -five.

The bruinettes won all three games: Franklin, 46-36; Blue Ridge, 61-40; Northwest, 62-53.

Af Third Consecutive Conference Title

The Bruinettes begin the cage season with high hopes and interest. Seventy girls came out for the squad; few seem inclined to drop out.

Last year's high scorer, Sandra Inman, will be backed up by excellent senior ball handlers --captain Judy Shelton; Dianne Simmons; SaraMidkiff and Sue Smith, co-alternate captains; and Johnnie Mae Edwards.

AN ALL-TIME individual scoring record for a Bruinette was set by Sandra Inman during the '57-58 season. Sandra's 472 points is 37 points above the 435 point record set by Kathleen Simmons for '56-57. Sandra had a 28 point average at the season's end.

Bivuins Beyin Bage Season

The Granite Bears begin the season as a favorite in Group One of the District AA race-a fast loop in which any school might come through the winner.

The Bruins face a particularily tough schedule including Jefferson High of Roanoke, Virginia, a class AAA school which has won the Virginia Championship several times, and Morehead, last year's N. C. Champions.

The team is well balanced, though Cleve Hamlin, $6^{\prime} 5^{\prime \prime}$ center who led the Bears' scoring last year, is the only member with real height.

MIKE ALLRED, a speedy forward, goes in for a lay-up shot.

Stlorance Snto State Slay-Offs

The 1958 baseball squad brought the first district championship to Mount Airy, long a collector of football and basketball trophies. The 1955 club finished second after tying Reidsville and taking the playoff 2-1. The 1957 Bears finished third.

The young, inexperienced team started the season with a strong defense and worked up a good batting record. Johnny Sanders led with a .487 record, followed by Ken Harris with .380. Jim Baity led the pitchers with a 5 - 0 record. R. J. Easter followed with a 5-2 mark.

The seventeen-member club lost seven men by graduation.

Class work, clubs, athletics--our year is crowded with varied activities that open new worlds and expand horizons.

GLENDA MARTIN DOES her sophisticated jazz dance in the talent show before the student body and invited guests.

Wavied Activities Exppand Dur Morizons

Overshadowing all our other activities in time and importance, classwork remains the chief function of MAHS--the open window to wider worlds.
'HOW DO YOU make this wonderful punch?' Mrs. McKinney compliments Mrs. Cloninger on the tea given by the home economics department for the teachers.

OurFinal Word

As you scan, then study, and finally autograph this eighth edition of Airmont, we hope you like it. We've tried to give you a brief, lasting glimpse of your expanding horizon -- MAHS, 1958-59.

To all the students, teachers, and advertisers who have helped on this book we say a big thank you -for the staff and for the students who will treasure this Airmont -a recorded year of school life.
